

Somewhere between elementary and high school, 60% of kids lose interest.

You can help them find it.

Turns out, you can change the world. In an hour a week.

Share your knowledge, time and career experience with a kid and you'll both gain something important along the way. Join the biggest mentoring project in the region's history and show our local kids that anything's possible when they know the education and career opportunities that await.

Be a mentor at a school for an hour a week and not only will a child gain critical real-world experience, you'll see the joy that comes with making a difference.

Kids with mentors:

- get better grades
- are less likely to get involved with drugs
- are 86% more likely to go to college

You already have what you need:

- a positive attitude
- experiences to share
- a big heart and sense of humor

Training is provided

*Mentors routinely report they
"get more than they give."*

6th graders are at a crossroads,
so this pilot program is designed to help those in Pittsburgh Public Schools understand how many options they have when they stay in school and involved.
